

Exploring Generative Artificial Intelligence (AI) Use Among Social workers

Key dates	November 2025 to April 2025
Participants sought	Social Workers employed at any organisation and all fields of practice
About	This social work Honours project aims to explore how AI is being applied in health and human services work, and to understand the views social workers hold about its use or non-use. Your insights and experiences, whether you currently use AI, will make an important contribution to this research.
What is involved	Participation is voluntary and confidential. You can choose to take part through either: • An anonymous online survey, or • A one-on-one discussion with a member of the research team. You do not need to have prior knowledge or experience with AI to participate.
How to get involved	Click on the URL or QR code below to access survey - https://redcap.latrobe.edu.au/redcap/surveys/?s=4YEM3WTEM84KFKXD  To participate in an interview please contact Rachael Sanders at r.sanders@latrobe.edu.au or (03) 5444 7851 to request a participant information sheet.
Institution and investigator contact	La Trobe University Rachael Sanders, r.sanders@latrobe.edu.au OR Kerryn Bagley, k.bagley@latrobe.edu.au