

I seek to serve the WA Branch with integrity, curiosity and genuine commitment to ethical leadership. Through my current social work placement, I have seen first-hand the gap between theory and practice, strengthening my resolve to support students navigating this transition with confidence and belonging. My participation in youth leadership programs has broadened my understanding of regional needs across WA, while ongoing engagement in AASW CPD and events continues to deepen my professional accountability. I aim to amplify student perspectives in decision-making and represent them with cultural humility, ensuring the Branch remains responsive, inclusive and grounded in real practice.
